* Casinos in British Columbia are privately operated. Host local governments receive ten per cent of the net gaming revenue from community casinos and one-sixth of net gaming revenue from destination casinos within their jurisdiction. The provincial government and operators also share in revenues.

 Casino formerly known as Casino Hollywood was renamed and relocated in 2004. It was first established as “Wagers Casino”.

NOTE: The province is currently allowing existing bingo halls to expand in order to accommodate new slot machines to become “community gaming centres”. An example of this type of facility is the “Bear Mountain Community Gaming Centre” in Dawson Creek. It began operations as a community gaming centre on October 1, 2004 and was the first such facility of its kind in the province. Other currently offering slots include Chances Signal Point Gaming [Williams Lake], Chances Gaming Entertainment (formerly Enterprise Entertainment) [Kamloops], and Chances Gaming Entertainment [formerly Bingo Kelowna] [Kelowna].
